L.A. County Is Objective of East Factories

Never before has there been a time when eastern and mid-western manufacturers have evinced so much interest as now in locating plants on the west coast—particularly in Los Angeles county.

Shifts in population taking place during the war have prompted manufacturers to examine and analyze manufacturing and distribution programs with a view to serving the West.

Such were the findings of James F. Bone, manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce industrial department, who with Allan K. Bollock, industrial commissioner of the chamber, has completed an industrial expansion trip of the east and midwest, including stops at New York, Washington and Chicago.

Bone and Bollock called on industrial leaders, engineers and trade paper publishers. They presented surveys compiled by the chamber's industrial department, showing raw materials, skilled labor reserves, plants available in this region, potential markets and production costs.

Manufacturers of basic industrial equipment, automotive parts, other metal products, textiles, chemicals, toilet articles and glass were those which displayed greatest interest in locating plants in or near Los Angeles.

Women To Be Accepted Again In U. S. Marines

A limited number of women will be accepted for enlistment in the United States Marine Corps Women's Reserve during the month of April, it was announced today.

Col. F. P. Snow, officer in charge of the Los Angeles recruiting district, in making the announcement said: "Women who join the Marines Corps during April will be ordered to duty within a few weeks to fill the more than 125 different jobs open to them."

"Applicants require no special training or ability but eligible women should not be engaged in essential industry; be between the ages of 20 and 36 and have no children under the age of 18. Two years of high school education or the equivalent is required," he said. Women interested in receiving more information concerning the Women's Reserve may apply at the Post Offices in Long Beach, Santa Monica, Glendale, Bakersfield and Pasadena, or to the United States Marine Corps Recruiting office, 215 West Fifth St., Los Angeles 13.

OPA To Check Tire Prices Of Dealers

Volunteer assistants of local OPA boards will visit tire and tire repairing firms during the period from April 15 to 30 to check dealers' prices for tires and services and inspect their records and postings in a nation-wide compliance survey.

The survey has three major objectives:

1. To determine the degree of compliance with two regulations which fix ceilings on tires, tubes and certain services and "extra" service charges.
2. To explain and clarify requirements for dealers.
3. To correct any instances of non-compliance.

The volunteers will check to see that the seller's ceiling prices are posted in his shop, that he is giving sales slips to each purchaser, and that he is keeping records of each sale as required by the regulation. Dealers who are found in violation will be asked to come in for a compliance settlement with the price panel of their local board. Any who are selling above ceiling prices, will be asked to make refunds to buyers who paid excessive amounts, and face treble damage actions.
